

Commercial Photography

Robert Stokes Photography is a specialist in providing Commercial photography in the Central Florida Area.

Commercial photography is very important in our vibrant and growing economy here in Central Florida. Selecting the right commercial photographer to record your business and its assets is not to be taken lightly. Robert Stokes Photography assures you that your investment will be photographed properly.

A Commercial Photographer can take pictures of various subjects such as, buildings, undeveloped real estate, models, merchandise, artifacts and landscapes. These photographs can be used in a variety of ways. Some examples of those uses could be: media, books, financial reports, advertisements and catalogs. Commercial Photography can include photographs of equipment, machinery, products, workers, and company officials. These photographs can be used for numerous purposes such as, analysis of engineering projects, publicity or records of equipment development or deployment. Most of this type of photography is done on location.

Robert Stokes Photography has over 33 years experience in the commercial photography field and will supply examples of his photographic work at your request. For examples of some of our current work visit commercial photo gallery.
